Caesar's Story Celebrates Inspiration, Hope, Forgiveness, And Most of All, *Love...

Two hearts with but a single thought, Two hearts that beat as one.

Many of the world's greatest love stories center around humans, but not all of them. Likewise, many of the world's greatest stories are also told by humans. This story of a dog named Caesar and his beloved human soul mate is an exception on both counts. Readers, be warned: whether you're a confirmed pet lover or merely intrigued by the uniqueness of this tale, know in advance that Caesar: The Greatest Love Story Ever Told By A Dog will forever impact your soul.

Meet Caesar: he is abused, abandoned, and very ill when, through no fault of his own, he finds himself at the mercy of the very individuals he should have been able to trust and find comfort and salvation with.

At the same time, unbeknownst to Caesar, best-selling author Clementina Maria Giovannetti is struggling with her own personal despair. The recent loss of her beloved dog Happy has left her with a gaping hole in her heart and her life. She feels unable to go on without him, in spite of her considerable professional success, for he was the first true love of her life and indeed, the only true love she has ever known.

One night, Clementina has a vision of a desperately ill, overweight, and crippled red-haired golden retriever who needs her. Though he appears to be spiritually and emotionally broken, Clementina's vision reflects "a gentle giant who had been deeply tormented and abused his entire life."

A woman with extraordinary insight and the gift of healing, Clementina immediately begins to search for this unknown red-haired dog. Her faithful efforts lead her to a Golden Retriever Rescue Group in Florida, where she earnestly attempts to find this dog of her dreams.

When Caesar and Clementina finally meet, it is love at first sight. Clementina sees into Caesar's very soul. She loves him for who he is simply because he is.

Caesar is likewise awed and astonished that someone, anyone, could genuinely love a dog in his condition. In one of the many heart-wrenching moments in the book, Caesar confesses, "I haven't told you, what's really bothering me. It's my heart. I think it's broken."

Upon meeting Clementina, Caesar immediately realizes there is hope for him, but their happy beginning soon morphs into an unbelievable tale of intrigue, deception, and downright despair as underhanded human beings inexplicably work to prevent them from spending their lives together. These individuals expect Clementina to crumble in the face of their strong-arm tactics, but her will is as strong as her love for Caesar and she refuses to break in the face of incredible pressure that nonetheless frightens and intimidates.

It is a tribute to Clementina's love, respect, and understanding of Caesar that she allows him to tell this story that she lovingly coordinates. The result is indeed the greatest love story ever told by a dog. You won't be able to put it down, you will never forget it, and you will be awed, time and again, by the love and devotion Clementina displays to her beloved Caesar.

Their two hearts do have but a single thought; their hearts do beat as one. Readers will cry when they read this book, and they will be outraged on behalf of Caesar and Clementina. They will also be driven to ask why, and how, human beings can be so evil.

Nonetheless, readers will ultimately come away from Caesar: The Greatest Love Story Ever Told By A Dog elated and triumphant, for Clementina and Caesar ultimately defeat the forces attempting to keep them apart.

In that spirit, and to honor the dog who saved her very life and whose very life she saves in return, Clementina is donating a portion of the proceeds from books sold directly from Caesar's website to animal shelters, animal emergency rescue groups, and other sanctuaries for abused and abandoned animals. That means readers should buy the book directly from www.lovecaesar.com. In so doing, they will help Clementina continue helping other needy animals who, like Caesar, both need and deserve love.
